CONTENTS

Acknowledgements 11

1. Introduction 13
1.1 Spatial and chronological framework of the study 13
1.1.1 Geography and geomorphology of Moravia 13
1.1.2 Chronological and cultural framework 16
1.2 History of research of the Early La Tène in Moravia 17
1.3 Sources 19

2. Settlement areas 28
2.1 Unfortified lowland settlement areas 28
2.1.1 Features at settlements 29
2.1.1.1 Sunken houses 29
2.1.1.1.1 Function and appearance of larger sunken features 35
2.1.1.2 Storage pits 39
2.1.1.3 Surface post-built structures 40
2.1.1.4 Other features 42
2.1.2 Location, size, type and hierarchy of settlements 42
2.1.2.1 Types and forms of settlements 43
2.1.2.2 Settlement hierarchy and the social standing of residents 49
2.1.3 Chronology of settlements 52
2.2 Enclosed and unenclosed hilltop areas 53
2.2.1 The size and appearance of fortifications 56
2.2.2 Development of the occupation of hilltop sites in Moravia in the Late Hallstatt and Early La Tène periods 58
2.2.3 The function of hillforts and hilltop areas 60

3. Hoards 63

4. Burial activities and human remains at settlements 66
4.1 Evidence of LT A-burial activities in Moravia 66
4.1.1 The burial rite, grave goods and the (dis)continuity of cemeteries 69
4.1.2 Possible explanations for the absence of Ha D2–LT A cemeteries in Moravia 71
4.2 Human remains at settlements 72
5. The economy and production in the Early La Tène period 73
5.1 Pottery and the organisation of pottery production 73
5.1.1 Production centres and distribution areas 75
5.2. Subsistence 78
5.2.1 Crop cultivation 78
5.2.2 Animal husbandry and hunting 79
5.3. Specialised production 80
5.3.1 Non-ferrous metallurgy 80
5.3.2 Iron metallurgy (iron smelting and forging) 82
5.3.2.1 Iron smelting 83
5.3.2.1.1 Evidence of iron smelting from Neředín 83
5.3.2.1.2 The social aspects of iron production 85

6. Portable finds – pottery vessels 87
6.1 Pottery vessels – a quantitative evaluation 87
6.1.1 Pottery description 87
6.1.2 Quantitative analysis of pottery from Modrá and Neředín 90
6.1.2.1 Representation of vessel forms in the assemblages 91
6.1.2.2 Representation of selected pottery characteristics 95
6.1.2.3 Representation of graphite pottery in assemblages 96
6.1.2.4 Representation of fine pottery in assemblages 98
6.2 Pottery vessels – a typological and chronological description 101

6.2.1 Bowls 102
6.2.1.1 Wheel-turned bowls 103
6.2.1.2 Hand-formed neckless bowls with an inverted rim 107
6.2.1.3 Conical bowls 108
6.2.1.4 Carinated bowls 108
6.2.2 Pots and situlae 108
6.2.2.1 Pot and situla rim shape 111
6.2.2.2 Pot and situla decoration 111
6.2.2.3 Pot forms 116
6.2.2.4 Situlae 117
6.2.3 Flask-shaped forms 118
6.2.4 Other forms 122
6.2.4.1 Amphora-shaped vessels 122
6.2.4.2 Cups 123
6.2.4.3 Sieves/fumigators 124
6.2.4.4 Discs 124
6.2.4.5 Lids 125
6.2.4.6 Miniature and small vessels 125
6.2.4.7 Beaked flagon 125
6.3 Excursion 1: Stamped pottery and pottery produced on a potter's wheel 126
6.3.1 Terminology 126
6.3.2 On the origin of wheel-turned pottery 126
6.3.3 On the origin of stamped pottery 127
6.3.4 Dating stamped pottery 129
6.3.5 Stamped and wheel-turned vessel forms 132
6.3.6 Technological aspects of wheel-turned pottery production 134
6.3.7 Motifs and the composition of stamped decoration 137
6.3.8 Representation and occurrence of stamped pottery in assemblages 143
6.4 Excursion 2: Painted pottery from Neředín 143

7. Portable finds – artefacts other than pottery vessels 146
7.1 Ceramic finds 146
7.1.1 Spindle whorls 146
7.1.2 Clay loom weights 148
7.1.3 Technical ceramics 149
7.1.3.1 Crucibles 149
7.1.3.2 Casting moulds 150
7.1.4 Daub 151
7.1.5 Other finds 153
7.2 Metal finds 153
7.2.1 Personal adornment and dress 153
7.2.1.1 Fibulae 154
7.2.1.2 Pins 159
7.2.1.3 Ring ornaments 161
7.2.1.4 Belt hook 163
7.2.2 Tools 163
7.2.3 Weapons 166
7.2.4 Metal vessels 168
7.2.5 Other metal finds 169
7.3 Non-metal and non-ceramic finds 169
7.3.1 Glass beads 169
7.3.2 Amber beads 171
7.3.3 Bone and antler industry 172
7.3.4 Stone artefacts 175
7.3.4.1 ‘Greek-type’ quern-stones (Olynthus mills) and other grinding devices 175
7.3.4.2 Whetstones and stone slab 179
7.3.4.3 Stone weights 180
7.3.4.4 Touchstone 182
7.3.4.5 Chipped and polished stone artefacts 182
7.3.5 Graphite 183

8. Chronology of the Early La Tène period in Moravia 185
8.1 On the theory of the persistence of the Hallstatt population in the La Tène period 185
8.2 Relative chronology of Early La Tène settlement material in Moravia (Ha D3–LT B1) 189
8.2.1 Proposed chronology of Early La Tène settlements in Moravia 191
8.2.2 The possibilities of the synchronisation of settlement material with graves 199
8.3 Absolute chronology 200

9. Transformation in the Ha D–LT B period in Moravia and the question of ethnicity 202
9.1 Continuity and discontinuity in sources from the Ha D–LT B period in Moravia 202
9.2 Continuity, migration or diffusion? 203
9.3 On the ethnicity of the Moravian population in the fifth century BC 206

10. Conclusion 208

11. Appendix A – Catalogue of sites 210
11.1 Catalogue of LT A sites 210
11.2 Catalogue of Ha D2–3/LT A–B1 sites (selection) 227

12. Appendix B – Modrá and Neředín. Description of the features and non-pottery finds 232
12.1 Modrá 232
12.2 Neředín 234

13. Appendix C – List of features 240

14. Bibliography 242

15. Plates 289